

Your lane

Your car, your lane. Your traits, history, strengths, values, priorities, and choices until your time ends. Meteorites from the universe's lane may land in your lane.

Their lane

Their car, their lane. Their traits, history, strengths, values, priorities, and choices until their time ends. Meteorites from the universe's lane may land in their lane.

The universe's lane

Reality. The complexity of what exists, according to the laws of nature, properties of matter, and states of energy, independent of human belief or interpretation. Discerned through observation, reason, logic, and analysis of evidence in consultation with self, others, and peer-reviewed, reproducible, scientific research vs. personal experience, case study data, anecdotal data, or folk wisdom. Neutral, neither good nor bad, right or wrong, positive or negative, ideal or villainous, intentional or unintentional.